St. Louis, July 20.—The Executive Committee of the National Cotton Exchange met at the Southern Hotel about 11 o'clock this morning, and after the transaction of some private business adjourned. The fifth annual convention of the Exchange then convened in the ladies' ordinary of the hotel, and was called to order by John B. Lafitte, President, who delivered his annual address, after which committees were appointed and other preliminary business transacted. The President in his address very pathetically alluded to the late murderous assault upon President Garfield, characterizing it as a blow struck at the stability of our institutions and the introduction of a new element of uncertainty into commercial sircles.
